

UNIT HISTORICAL SKETCH

COMPANY C, 1ST BATTALION, 148TH INFANTRY REGIMENT

TIFFIN, OHIO

COMPANY C, 1ST BATTALION, 148TH INFANTRY REGIMENT

Company C, 1st Battalion, 148th Infantry Regiment was organized in Fremont on Nov. 27, 1925 as Company B, 148th Infantry. On Oct. 15, 1940 the company, as part of the 37th Division, was inducted into federal service and sent to Camp Shelby, Miss. for training.

When World War II ended in 1945, Company B had spent nearly 600 days in combat in the South Pacific. The company took part in the campaign to take the Munda Airfield on New Georgia, and established and manned the defensive perimeter on Bougainville for more than a year. After landing at Lingayen Gulf on Jan. 9, 1945, the company helped liberate the main Philippine island of Luzon in 1945.

For their heroism, three members of Company B earned the Medal of Honor: Rodger Young, John Reese Jr., and Cleto Rodriguez. Additionally, Company B men earned five Distinguished Service Crosses and 23 Silver Star Medals. As part of the 148th Infantry, the company received the Presidential Unit Citation for its part in the liberation of Manila.

Company B reorganized in Fremont in 1947 and was sent to Camp Polk, La. in 1952 for active service until 1954. In 1963, a reorganization converted the unit to Troop K, 3d Squadron, 107th Armored Cavalry. Another conversion took place in 1968, making the unit Company B, 612th Engineer Battalion. In 1997, the company was split between Fremont and Tiffin.

From 2004 to 2005, Company B deployed to Iraq for Operation Iraqi Freedom. The company primarily performed route clearance missions and earned the Valorous Unit Award for performing some of the first counter-improvised explosive device (IED) doctrine in theater.

On Sept. 1, 2007, the Fremont and Tiffin elements were consolidated at the Tiffin Armory and reorganized as Company C, 1st Battalion, 148th Infantry Regiment. The Tiffin unit was first organized on Apr. 15, 1947 and served time as an infantry, armor, medical and engineer company over the years.

Since returning to an infantry company, the unit has deployed to Iraq from 2008 to 2009 in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom and to Afghanistan in support of Operation Enduring Freedom from 2011 to 2012. The company was awarded the Meritorious Unit Commendation for its Afghanistan deployment. In the fall of 2022, the company mobilized in support of Operation Inherent Resolve.

PRIVATE RODGER W. YOUNG
JULY 31, 1943

NEW GEORGIA, SOLOMON ISLANDS

For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action above and beyond the call of duty while serving with Company B, 148th Infantry Regiment, 37th Infantry Division, in action at New Georgia, Solomon Islands. On 31 July 1943, the infantry company of which Private Young was a member, was ordered to make a limited withdrawal from the battle line in order to adjust the battalion's position for the night. At this time, Private Young's platoon was engaged with the enemy in a dense jungle where observation was very limited. The platoon suddenly was pinned down by intense fire from a Japanese machine gun concealed on higher ground only 75 yards away. The initial burst wounded Private Young. As the platoon started to obey the order to withdraw, Private Young called out that he could see the enemy emplacement, whereupon he started creeping toward it. Another burst from the machine gun wounded him the second time. Despite the wounds, he continued his heroic advance, attracting enemy fire and answering with rifle fire. When he was close enough to his objective, he began throwing hand grenades, and while doing so was hit again and killed. Private Young's bold action in closing with this Japanese pillbox and thus diverting its fire, permitted his platoon to disengage itself, without loss, and was responsible for several enemy casualties.

PRIVATE FIRST CLASS
JOHN N. REESE JR.
FEBRUARY 9, 1945

MANILA, LUZON, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action above and beyond the call of duty on 9 February 1945, while serving with Company B, 148th Infantry Regiment, 37th Infantry Division, in action at Manila, Philippine Islands. Private First Class Reese was engaged in the attack on the Paco Railroad Station, which was strongly defended by 300 determined enemy soldiers with machine guns and rifles, supported by several pillboxes, three 20-mm guns, one 37-mm gun and heavy mortars. While making a frontal assault across an open field, his platoon was halted 100 yards from the station by intense enemy fire. On his own initiative he left the platoon, accompanied by a comrade, and continued forward to a house 60 yards from the objective. Although under constant enemy observation, the two men remained in this position for an hour, firing at targets of opportunity, killing more than 35 Japanese and wounding many more. Moving closer to the station and discovering a group of Japanese replacements attempting to reach pillboxes, they opened heavy fire, killed more than 40 and stopped all subsequent attempts to man the emplacements. Enemy fire became more intense as they advanced to within 20 yards of the station. From that point Private First Class Reese provided effective covering fire and courageously drew enemy fire to himself while his companion killed seven Japanese and destroyed a 20-mm gun and heavy machine gun with hand grenades. With their ammunition running low, the two men started to return to the American lines, alternately providing covering fire for each other as they withdrew. During this movement, Private First Class Reese was killed by enemy fire as he reloaded his rifle. The intrepid team, in 2 1/2 hours of fierce fighting, killed more than 82 Japanese, completely disorganized their defense and paved the way for subsequent complete defeat of the enemy at this strong point. By his gallant determination in the face of tremendous odds, aggressive fighting spirit, and extreme heroism at the cost of his life, Private First Class Reese materially aided the advance of our troops in Manila and providing a lasting inspiration to all those with whom he served.

TECHNICAL SERGEANT
CLETO L. RODRIGUEZ
FEBRUARY 9, 1945

MANILA, LUZON, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action above and beyond the call of duty on 9 February 1945, while serving with Company B, 148th Infantry Regiment, 37th Infantry Division. Technical Sergeant Rodriguez was an automatic rifleman when his unit attacked the strongly defended Paco Railroad Station during the battle for Manila, Philippine Islands. While making a frontal assault across an open field, his platoon was halted 100 yards from the station by intense enemy fire. On his own initiative, he left the platoon, accompanied by a comrade, and continued forward to a house 60 yards from the objective. Although under constant enemy observation, the two men remained in this position for an hour, firing at targets of opportunity, killing more than 35 hostile soldiers and wounding many more. Moving closer to the station and discovering a group of Japanese replacements attempting to reach pillboxes, they opened heavy fire, killed more than 40 and stopped all subsequent attempts to man the emplacements. Enemy fire became more intense as they advanced to within 20 yards of the station. Then, covered by his companion, Private Rodriguez boldly moved up to the building and threw five grenades through a doorway killing 7 Japanese, destroying a 20-mm gun and wrecking a heavy machine gun. With their ammunition running low, the two men started to return to the American lines, alternately providing covering fire for each other's withdrawal. During this movement, Private Rodriguez' companion was killed. In 2 1/2 hours of fierce fighting the intrepid team killed more than 82 Japanese, completely disorganized their defense, and paved the way for the subsequent overwhelming defeat of the enemy at this strongpoint. Two days later, Private Rodriguez again enabled his comrades to advance when he single-handedly killed six Japanese and destroyed a well-placed 20-mm gun by his outstanding skill with his weapons, gallant determination to destroy the enemy, and heroic courage in the face of tremendous odds, Private Rodriguez, on two occasions, materially aided the advance of our troops in Manila.

HERALDIC ITEMS

DISTINCTIVE UNIT INSIGNIA

Description/Blazon: A Gold color metal and enamel device 1 7/32 inches (2.78 cm) in height consisting of a shield blazoned: Azure a fess wavy Gules fimbriated Or, between two fleurs-de-lis in chief and a rampant lion in base of the last, on a wreath Gold and Blue, a sheaf of seventeen arrows Argent, bound by a sprig of buckeye (aesculus glabra) fructed Proper (two leaves bursting burr). Attached below and to the sides of the shield a Blue scroll inscribed "WE'LL DO IT" in Gold letters.

Symbolism: The shield is blue for Infantry divided by a wavy fess of red, bordered by two gold bands, representing the Escaut River in Belgium, which the Regiment, under heavy fire, was the first of the Allied Troops to cross during World War I, costing the lives of many men, but held in the face of concentrated artillery fire and in the face of counter attacks. Two gold fleurs-de-lis, taken from the ancient French Arms denote service in France, the holding of two sectors in that country, the gold lion rampant is taken from the ancient French Arms denote service in France, the holding of two sectors in that country; the gold lion rampant is taken from the arms of Belgium and denotes service in that country in the Ypres-Lys offensive. At the time of the crossing of the Escaut River, the units attempting the act were just a little doubtful as to how a swift river could be crossed without pontoons. Lieutenant Colonel Marlin, then Major Marlin, reminded them of a certain ceremony that was to be performed on reaching the Rhine, and with the catch phrase "We'll Do It," the soldiers fell to work, cut down a tree across the Escaut and crossed, Indian file, over the tree.

Background: The distinctive unit insignia was approved on 27 September 1923.

COAT OF ARMS

Description/Blazon:

Shield: Azure, a fess wavy Gules fimbriated Or, between two fleurs-de-lis in chief and a rampant lion in base of the last.

Crest: That for the regiments and separate battalions of the Ohio Army National Guard: From a wreath Or and Azure, a sheaf of seventeen arrows Argent, bound by a sprig of buckeye (aesculus glabra) fructed Proper (two leaves bursting burr).

Motto: WE'LL DO IT.

Symbolism: The shield is blue for Infantry divided by a wavy fess of red, bordered by two gold bands, representing the Escaut River in Belgium, which the Regiment, under heavy fire, was the first of the Allied Troops to cross during World War I, costing the lives of many men, but held in the face of concentrated artillery fire and in the face of counter attacks. Background: The coat of arms was approved on 21 April 1923.

SHOULDER SLEEVE INSIGNIA

Description/Blazon: On a white disc 2 1/4 inches (5.72 cm) in diameter a red disc 1 1/2 inches (3.81 cm) in diameter.

Symbolism: The red and white disc is taken from the State Flag of Ohio.

Background: The shoulder sleeve insignia was originally approved for the 37th Division on 5 November 1918. It was redesignated for the 16th Engineer Brigade on 9 July 1968. It was canceled on 4 December 1969. The insignia was reinstated and redesignated effective 1 September 2007, for the 37th Infantry Brigade Combat Team, with the description updated and a symbolism added.
