Media Advisory

Operation (O.H.I.O.) town hall meetings set

As part of Operation Ohio Helps Its Own (O.H.I.O.), a newly created Ohio National Guard initiative, Maj. Gen. Greg Wayt, Ohio's adjutant general, along with key members of his staff, will conduct six statewide town hall meetings beginning in March and continuing through April 2008.

The meetings are intended to provide individuals, organizations and communities an opportunity to support active and reserve component military Families. Often members of the community want to help service members and their Families but do not know how. These meetings will provide a simple forum for those who are looking to help military Families with a special emphasis on Families who have supported their service member in the Global War on Terrorism

WHO: Maj. Gen. Greg Wayt, Ohio adjutant general, and members of the Ohio National Guard senior leadership team. (Public forum and all are invited to attend)

WHAT: A two-hour town hall meeting focusing on how individuals and organizations can work together to help support Ohio's military Families.

WHEN: 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 5.

WHERE: Medina Performing Arts Center, 777 East Union St., Medina, Ohio 44256.
